Pokemon DOOMED

Inspired by the Poke War series by Cornova but alot more dark due to the DOOM franchise being involved. and the other two that are here.

High above the skies of the Pokemon World, lies a space ship that came out of a mysterious portal, the Zeta Dreadnaught, had arrived to this world, with alot of passengers in tow.

ziden gazed upon the students who were here, and he looked at the Vale students who had come onto this trip. " I do not know why I agreed to this, but, this is training, I guess. Well, with a high chance of death anyways."

And the orange haired girl in the back was eagerly raising her hand in the back. " Oh! How is that different from our normal lives, we are training to be Huntsmen after all, so this will get us ready faster!"

" Yeah, Mr. Ziden, we have handled Grimm before, could these Pokemon and Demons be that much worse?" The Redhead dressed in Spartan like clothing spoke up.

" Well, if you say so, I better not hear you complaining about any traumas, though, I guess your Auras will help out here." Ziden said while he noticed the skittish blonde, he knew this one from Ozpin's files, a line of heroes he is descended from but he smells of a rookie.

" Well, that's fine and all but I can say, this is the first time, i have been offered a sweet Gig by a God." And a familiar white haired man appeared next to Ziden, looking noticeably older since he was last seen.

" Dante, looks like the world Reset, made ya older." Ziden said while looking at the half demon, the male shrugging.

" I heard about it from Marisa, the tyke. I missed one hell of a party it seems, or I died, not sure which but I am not missing this one." Dante said while looking at him. " And I brought a friend that I told ya about."

And he makes sure to point to the young fella who was sitting down in his own chair during the spaceship ride, headphones on and looking at the infinite blackness that was interrupted by the glow of various worlds out there. The Links between them were gone but ships like Ziden;'s could still visit each and every one.

" Mr Ziden, uh, what exactly, are we doing here, in that case." And there was the rabbit faunus who decided to ask the big money question.

" While I am not truly sure why, but it seems that a Pokemon here has gone rogue, massively rogue, using some unknown cosmic power to remove the Limiters of Pokemon, turning their mostly harmless to this world attacks, into killer attacks that can maim and worse." Ziden explained. " Pokemon turned against humanity, and by the time we learned of it... humanity was utterly destroyed within the 3rd month."

" That, does not sound good at all. And why come here if we are already too late?" The youth in green asked, who was sitting next to Nora asked.

" Because, Arceus let us travel through time, an hour before the attack on humanity begins. And an hour before the demons came." Ziden said. " Yeah, this isn't just Pokemon, Demon, from the fake, butchered hell have come here, their corrupted energies were the contributing factor to the downfall of humanity. Overall, these demons, are literally nothing, weaklings I would not even give the time of day."

" Are they really that weak?" Yang asked, thinking this was gonna be a weak and easy fight.

" No, he's a literal demon hunter probably used to fighting Moon eating monsters, from what the files told us, the most these demons can do is, tear up a planet over time. A long time. Plus, we did just come out of watching an entire world get destroyed and restored." Weiss explained while crossing her legs.

" so, what's the plan then." Blake asked while looking up from her book.

" We're splitting up and heading to each region to begin mass evacuating to the safest towns and we are gonna bring them up onto this ship. After that point, we get to work finding out why Ho-oh did what he did, stop the demon invasion and find out, why the hell they picked this world to invade." Ziden said while Dante slapped his hands.

" Team Coco will be going with me to Sinnoh, sounds like a fun time there." Dante said while clapping his hands.

" I'm heading to Johto, to check in on someone special. that's all I will say. Being so close to the likely epicenter means I am gonna have to make some major headway." Ziden said while cracking his knuckles.

" I'm coming with." Blake closed her book and stood up as ziden raised a brow.

" Not going with your team to Kanto?" Ziden asked while looking at her team.

" She said she was going where you were gonna go, for some reason, so, you keep my teammate safe, got it?" Yang even made sure to stare at him before he sighed.

" Then that means, i go with Team RWBY to Kanto." Ziden looked back and saw Sanae coming out of another area of the ship, with a grin on her face.

" Well, just team RWY, I'm heading down to Hoenn with Firebitch and Nero then?" And Kaguya makes herself known, with Mokou grumbling behind her.

" But, there are more regions... right?" Ruby asked while soon swallowing.

" Yeah but we can't save em all without spreading too thin, with how high the chances are to die here. If you die, I could bring you back, but you won't be mentally safe. Remember this, survive, all of you. This is, a battle, a war unlike any other." Ziden said while looking at them, everyone grabbing their weapons and getting ready. " Once we save these four, we head to the others and save anyone who survived."

The walk to the teleporter room was silent, only the sound of their shoes could be heard and soon they entered the room

" Once we touch down, get ready, because these aren't gonna be Grimm but flesh and blood creatures we are gonna be cleaving apart . Remember that. Some humans may even be unhinged." Ziden warns as everyone steels themselves the best they can.

" We're ready teacher!" They all said in unison as Ziden scratched the side of his head. Soon hitting the teleporter, the glowing blue lights soon swallowing them as they were all brought to various areas, with Ziden landing on a farm on the outskirts of Goldenrod, with Blake in tow.

Only a moment to breathe before Ziden saw it, the rain of lightning that came down onto Goldenrod, and the sense of death that raced through his being, the teleporter sent them down an hour ahead in time, and right into the heavy release of the Pokemon Limiters.

The War had come, and the smell of roasted corpses flowed into the air heavily. Blake was unsettled by the smell, judging by how her ears went down but made sure to keep a tight grip on Gamble Shroud. The clicking of fangs could be heard behind them. It was time for Ziden to get to work.

1. Dante is now in his DMC4 design and while it will be explained in the next chapter, Dante got a bit of a reboot. Not that reboot.

Author's Note: This story is indeed inspired heavily by Cornova's rather god tier Poke Wars story, but the big difference will be a massive difference in Villains and this will be well, alot more Poke violent due to the super humans on the hero sides, yes, there will be alot of deaths, all of them gruesome, Alola and Sinnoh fans will especially be hurting here. This is basically Dynasty Wars but the Pokemon are the enemy soldiers. Have fun guessing who will all die, but it is anime verse, I am not going nowhere near as deep as Cor did to have a massively stark difference in stories.
